

I strongly oppose allowing cellular telephone use aboard airborne commercial aircraft. It's bad enough when someone at the next table in a restaurant is talking on his cell phone, but the din of an airplane full of talkers when you're trying to get some work done or sleep would be unbearable. Please do not let this happen.